Event Date: April 2 and 3, 2010

Want to get in the spirit of Easter? Come to “The Deliverer,” a full, family-friendly production with sets, costumes, a cast of 100, and the gripping story of Jesus our Deliverer.

A can of food for the Second Harvest Food Bank gets you a free ticket to this annual Easter drama, where you can be present at creation, Jesus’ birth and death, and His Second Coming.

There are three ways to get tickets: email deliverertickets@gmail.com, call 509-245-3621, or drop by one of the ticket outlets (The Harvester Restaurant, Upper Columbia Academy, Cheney ZipTrip, and Second Harvest Food Bank).

Performances of “The Deliverer” will be Friday, April 2 at 7 p.m.; Saturday, April 3 at 4 p.m.; and Saturday, April 3 at 7 p.m., at Showalter Auditorium on the campus of Eastern Washington University.

“The Deliverer” is presented by the Upper Columbia Academy Seventh-day Adventist Church, Upper Columbia Academy and Elementary School, Cheney Seventh-day Adventist Church, and the Adventist Christian Fellowship of Eastern Washington University, in partnership with Second Harvest Food Bank that will benefit from your generous donation of non-perishable cans of food. Make “The Deliverer” your family’s annual Easter tradition. For information, call 509-245-3621.
